List Telling Who Got Gifts Is Missing

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House subcommittee is reportedly trying to lay its hands on an alleged list of naming congressmen and an administration official as receiving money order gifts from Billie Sol Estes.

This was reported Friday by the subcommittee's dismissed Republican counsel, Robert E. Manuel. He spoke to reporters outside a hearing room where the subcommittee was taking testimony that two former agriculture department officials had received such money orders.

James T. Ralph, former assistant secretary of agriculture, told the government operations subcommittee that he and his aide, William E. Morris, each received a pair of $100 money orders from Estes, last January—and turned the money over to the Democratic party.

Both Ralph and Morris have been fired because of their connections with the indicted Texas promoter whose boom-to-bust operations under government farm programs have stirred charges he carried and got favored treatment from officials.

Ralph denied accepting gifts from Estes and also denied that he or anyone else in the agriculture department had ever granted favors to Estes.

Meanwhile Republicans blazed away at the dismissal Thursday of Manuel as the minority counsel on the subcommittee which is headed by Rep. L. H. Fountain, D-N.C.

The Democratic majority on the committee voted to fire him for leaking an agriculture department report on Estes to a newspaper. But the Republican congressional committee charged Manuel was "dumped...when he found out Estes had chummy contacts" with Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Johnson had no comment. The Republican Campaign Committee called the subcommittee's hearings "a fraud upon the American people and a testimonial to the fact that America needs a Republican House to restore honesty to government."

Speaking to reporters, Manuel said Morris had a list of persons who allegedly got Estes' money orders.

"The testimony taken in executive session related to a list of individuals to whom Estes allegedly sent gifts in the form of money orders," said Manuel at an informal press conference.

The list, he said, includes the names of "certain members of Congress and at least one very high-ranking administration official."

Ralph added he has no personal knowledge of anyone other than himself and Morris who received money orders from Estes.

Asked about Ralph's statement that he had reported the money orders to Agriculture Secretary Freeman, Thomas R. Hughes, Freeman's executive secretary, told a reporter:

"We have absolutely no evidence of any memorandum to this effect being received in the secretary's office."

In his talk with reporters outside the hearings, Manuel issued a statement denouncing the inquiry and criticizing chairman Fountain.

Manuel called the subcommittee's investigation a "one-party operation" and claimed it "is being distorted" to protect important political figures.

Fountain said Manuel's claim is "obviously a political statement without foundation."

Campaign Continues in Doldrums

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arkansas' gubernatorial campaign continued in the doldrums Thursday, with only two of the Democratic hopefuls showing signs of life.

The incumbent, Gov. Orval E. Faubus, was interrogated by delegates to Boys State at Camp Robinson near Little Rock Thursday afternoon and Sid McMath spoke Thursday night to a group of Camden businessmen.

Showing no mercy or hesitance in their questions, the Boys State delegates deluged the governor with such queries as why did he re-enter the political picture after withdrawing and would he enter the Hot Springs gambling affair.

Faubus said he decided to seek an unprecedented fifth two-year term after receiving a clean bill of health and through widespread encouragement from his supporters.

Regarding gambling at Hot Springs, the governor said he would act quickly if asked, but reminded the delegates that the city has plenty of authority to act on its own.

McMath showed little hesitancy also in his continuing attack on the Faubus administration.

The former governor said the University of Arkansas Graduate Institute of Technology virtually is being ignored while it is a "vitally needed tool of our industrial growth."

He noted that during his years in office, the state received 508 new industries "with considerably less fanfare than is now the case."

"While the present administration has talked of industrial growth on the one hand, it has given away with the other," McMath said.

Koreans March on Embassy Ends

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—

South Korean police with fixed bayonets today broke up a new march on the U. S. Embassy by university students demanding that American soldiers be tried in South Korean courts for off-duty offenses.

The police seized 40 of the demonstrators. Shortly after their arrest, however, South Korean strong man Gen. Chung Hee Park ordered the release of all students taken into custody today and during a similar demonstration Wednesday.

Thirteen students were under formal arrest for the Wednesday demonstration protesting the recent beating of an alleged thief by two American officers. U.S. Ambassador Samuel Berger had called on Foreign Minister Choi Duk-shin Wednesday and asked for their release.

Park said he fully sympathized with the causes of the demonstrations, but he warned that the demonstrators violated a national law and that similar outbreaks in the future would be dealt with strictly.

He added that in spite of isolated incidents "friendly relations between the United States and the Republic of Korea will remain as firm as ever."

In today's demonstration, the South Korean military police charged 1,000 students massed on the Seoul National University campus and kept most of them from breaking out into the streets.

They did not use their bayonets and no injuries were reported. U.S. military authorities ordered American military personnel in the Seoul metropolitan area to stay in their respective compounds except for combat or official business.

Americans are now tried in U. S. military courts for all offenses—whether on or off duty.

A national officer of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People arrived in Hyannis today. Gloster Current, director of branches, is the first representative of the NAACP headquarters to visit Hyannis since the riders began arriving May 12.

Current said he was checking on the organizational make up of the relatively new Hyannis chapter.

Edward Burton, 44, who came to Hyannis from Little Rock, was in court Thursday on two drunkenness charges lodged the same day. He pleaded innocent but was found guilty and was placed on six months probation.

Burton and another rider, Mrs. Eliza Davis from Cuba, Ala., are scheduled to appear in court.

Ted Kennedy Gets Nod in Massachusetts

By ARTHUR EDSON

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—Those ambitious, never-give-up Kennedys have done it again.

Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy, 30-year-old brother of the President and of the attorney general, was endorsed by weary, hoarse Massachusetts Democrats Friday night as a candidate for the U. S. Senate.

In the big battle of famous political names, Kennedy piled up such a margin over Edward J. McCormack, 38, that McCormack gave up before the balloting was two-thirds completed.

With the score card showing Kennedy 691 to McCormack's 360, the voting was stopped.

McCormack came to the microphone, listened gratefully to the cheers of his supporters, and said:

"I want to thank all of those who had the courage to stand up and be counted in my behalf...I will now take my case to the people."

This means that even though McCormack lost here he will fight Kennedy again in the September primaries, a right he has under Massachusetts law.

Scarcely had McCormack left the platform than here came Kennedy, accompanied by his blonde wife, Joan, to get an even more rousing reception.

Kennedy said he was sure the people of Massachusetts will speak just as the convention delegates did.

"As of tonight," Kennedy said, "we're starting the campaign."

McCormack is the nephew of House Speaker John McCormack, and waiting restlessly in the political wings is a young representative of yet a third famous family.

George Lodge, 34, son of the former United Nations ambassador, Henry Cabot Lodge, faces Rep. Laurence Curtis in the Republican convention a week from today.

Even though Friday night's victory didn't prove much—it gives Teddy first place on the ballot, plus a note that the convention endorsed him—the Kennedys go into everything from touch football to conventions aiming to win.

And young Teddy won here with a technique his brother developed in Massachusetts and perfected in New Hampshire, Wisconsin and West Virginia: bright young men in slick automobiles, pretty girls in crisp dresses, and unremitting industry behind scenes to make sure each delegate is reached again and again.

It's worked wonders for John F. Kennedy, and so war it's working for Teddy.

Told to Return Mislabelled Capsule

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The state Health Department has asked drugstores to return shipments of a safflower capsule mislabeled as a dietary supplement to the manufacturer.

Creo Jones, director of the Food and Drug Division, said quite a bit of the supplement was found in drugstores in Little Rock and Jonesboro, and some in other parts of the state.

None has been seized, he said. The safflower oil in the capsule is an excellent cooking oil but "it is misleading to put it into a capsule and label it as a dietary supplement," Jones said.

The safflower is a thistlelike herb of the aster family. Its oil is no more valuable than corn oil or any of the other polysaturated fats.

The capsules are produced in Milwaukee, St. Louis, New York, New Jersey, Birmingham, Ala.

Germans Use Barge to Escape

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD

BERLIN (AP) — Bringing a baby with them, 13 young East Germans hijacked a 500-ton river excursion boat early today and escaped to freedom under a hail of machine-gun bullets.

East German police, firing from a watch tower, a pier, a bridge and a patrol boat, pumped over 200 bullets into the fleeing vessel. Nobody was hurt.

West Berlin police fired 10 shots back at the East Germans to check their fire. The boat, the Friedrich Wolf, was riddled and there were bullet marks on buildings on the West Berlin shore.

The escapees included eight men, all employees of East Berlin's "white fleet" of excursion boats, five women, and one couple's 5-month-old boy. The adults, all about 30 or under, told police they had been planning the escape for a week.

Thursday night the men in the group went aboard the Friedrich Wolf at her mooring beside the River Spree and began drinking with her captain and engineer. When the two were off guard, they jumped them and tied them up.

Under cover of darkness they spirited their women and the baby aboard. Then at dawn the men got the two-deck boat moving.

They swung into the center of Berlin, making for the point where the left bank of the river becomes the border between East and West Berlin.

Posts of Vopos — as the East German police are called — opened fire.

Racing the engines at their top speed of 10 knots, the men aboard the Friedrich Wolf suddenly swung left and rammed the boat into the entrance of the Landwehr Canal — Western territory.

The escapees, moving quickly in twos and threes, sprang ashore. They flung themselves to the ground to escape the whipping bullets. When the West Berlin police fired, the Vopos checked their fire.

The whole thing was over in 20 minutes.

The boat's captain and engineer were allowed to get the boat under way and return to East Berlin.

June, the Month When Lace, Satin, Orange Blossoms Have a Special Meaning

By MARY ANITA LASETER

Since June is the month of brides by tradition, our visit with you today will take on the look of satin and lace with a few orange blossoms thrown in for good measure.

The long, white gown the bride of today wears was almost outlawed by the U. S. government in 1941. (That fact came as a shock to me, too.) A tradition left over from ancient Rome almost came to an end because of World War II and a 12 man War Production Board. In order to conserve textiles for the war effort, the board had ordered the textile people to cease weaving white.

Now if this had been China instead of the U. S., things would have been all right, for white is the color of mourning in China and never worn for a wedding.

Pink is usually worn instead. But this wasn't China and for years it had been believed that if a girl married in any other color but white, her marriage was doomed to misery and unhappiness. (We know that isn't necessarily so, but that's the traditional belief.)

With disaster staring them in the face, many manufacturers of bridal attire were almost ready to fold up their plants as well as their dresses. New York's garment district decided not to give up but to go to Washington and fight. For ammunition they wrote form letters to the clergy of America asking, "What is the meaning of a wedding gown to you?"

Letters poured in from priests, preachers, and rabbis, as well as brides of every faith and from every income bracket. It was the opinion of all the least a bride should have in those uncertain times was a marriage in the church or her faith in the traditional wedding gown. With public opinion behind them, the manufacturers went to Washington with a plan to cut down on the use of fabric and at the same time the tradition of the bridal gown alive. The dozen men on the WPB were pleased because the plan saved fabric, and the brides were pleased because the rules saved the bridal gown.

So the tradition of the white wedding gown was preserved. What about preserving the gown itself? And we aren't speaking of keeping it for generations to come, though that's nice when ever possible. Right now it's also important to avoid the fate of the bride who fails to remove the gown from its box until the day of the wedding. When that happens disaster usually results, for creases and wrinkles occur and no matter how carefully the dress was packed.

A wedding consultant from one of New York's largest department stores advises: Keep the dress boxed until four days before the wedding. Then, hang it in a warm room with a sheet underneath for the train. This will hang out packing wrinkles. Don't hook up the train to keep it off the floor as a crease will develop that is almost impossible to press out. Instead, pread the train carefully over the sheet. Have a sheet spread over car floor and seat, too. To avoid a rumpled look, do not sit on the dress.

All those instructions look good in print, but they are easier to say than to do. Don't worry, girls, even if you don't have a long white wedding gown that presents additional problems. The radiance of a bride's face puts diamonds and sunsets to shame and make everything else of second importance anyway.

Medical Men Told of Obligation

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Dr. Guy T. Williams told honor graduates from the various schools in the University of Arkansas Medical Center Thursday they have an obligation to the people of Arkansas since they were having their education subsidized by the state's taxpayers.

Williams was an honor graduate from the University School of Medicine in 1948. He spoke at Honors Day Convocation.

He told the students if they fail to keep up with the program of medicine, they will soon be as outmoded as the double-breasted suit.

Williams, a staff member of Browne-McHardy Clinic in New Orleans, told the graduates to be "well-rounded, contributing citizens and not one who can talk only of his own field."

He suggested they pay their debt to the state with service in four fields: professional, religious, family and community.

CREW-CUT NURSE—Wearing a slightly embarrassed smile, David Ranck is pinned by Miss Anna Pfaff, director of nurses at the Williamsport, Pa., Hospital School of Nursing. The only boy in the nursing class, David got the pin in lieu of a nursing cap.

WHAT'S HER LINE?—Seeing Mrs. Marian Davis of Manistee, Mich., when she's not in her work clothes you'd never know she's a truck driver. She's five-foot-three, and a grandmother, but still wheels a multi-ton truck precisely under the scoop of a digging crane. She has done the work since 1949 when she started helping her husband who was in a subcontracting business, stayed with a big road building company. Her pet idea when she retires, to take her grandchildren on a tour of the roads grandma helped build. They include the Ohio turnpike, Grand Rapids-to-Detroit freeway and the Detroit-to-Chicago freeway.

HIS DAY—Our Duty

Welcome to church! ... but wait a minute. Have you bothered to invite a friend or a stranger to share the pew at your church? Someone is waiting for your invitation... a business partner... a club member... a neighbor. What sort of church member are you? Do you care enough to invite another to share its blessings with you? Do you get genuine spiritual uplift in the public worship of God's house? You are your brother's keeper. Then, you should want to invite him to God's house. You should long for an opportunity to pray with him. Strength gained through worship in God's house on Sunday fortifies us for the entire week ahead. Then, "Come Let Us Go Into The House Of The Lord." It is His day and our duty.

So They May See == Psalm 17 == So They May Hear

HEAR THE RIGHT, O Lord, attend unto my cry, give ear unto my prayer, that goeth not out of feigned lips.

2. Let my sentence come forth from thy presence; let thine eyes behold the things that are equal.

3. Thou has proved mine heart; thou hast visited me in the night; thou hast tried me, and shalt find nothing; I am purposed that my mouth shall not transgress.

4. Concerning the works of men, by the word of thy lips I have kept me from the paths of the destroyer.

5. Hold up my goings in thy paths, that my footsteps slip not.

6. I have called upon thee, for thou wilt hear me, O God: incline thine ear unto me, and hear my speech.

7. Shew thy marvellous lovingkindness, O thou that savest by thy right hand them which put their trust in thee from those that rise up against them.

KEEP ME as the apple of the eye, hide me under the shadow of thy wings,

9. From the wicked that oppress me, from my deadly enemies, who compass me about.

10. They are inclosed in their own fat; with their mouth they speak proudly.

11. They have now compassed us in our steps: they have set their eyes bowing down to the earth;

12. Like as a lion that is greedy of his prey, and as it were a young lion lurking in secret places.

13. Arise, O Lord, disappoint him, cast him down: deliver my soul from the wicked, which is thy sword.

14. From men which are thy hand, O Lord, from men of the world, which have their portion in this life, and whose belly thou fillest with thy hid treasure: they are full of children and leave the rest of their substance to their babes.

15. As for me, I will behold thy face in righteousness: I shall be satisfied, when I awake, with thy likeness.
